

TO SEE ON THE WAY...

✓ scenery:

The Aravis peaks, the Roc d'Enfer, Mont-Blanc...

✓ flora:

The route winds nicely through Alpine meadows.

✓ culture:

The chapel in Graydon hamlet is worth taking a moment to admire. Built in 1859 and dedicated to the Immaculate Conception, the top sections of the porch come from Aulps Abbey.

What's in a name?

The Roc d'Enfer: legend has it that a shepherd lost his way in the mountains while looking for his animals and fell from the hillside during a storm, eventually succumbing to his injuries. Ever since, the mountain has been called the Roc d'Enfer (Hell's Rock)!

The col Ratti: this mountain pass gets its name from the French "rôti" (roast). This is because the hillside is very exposed and offers little shade... hence the risk of being roasted in the open!
